Directions: School counselors should record evidence to indicate strengths and areas for growth for each standard. Then, look across all of the standards holistically and identify two priorities for the upcoming year. Note these two priorities with check marks in the far-right column.

Standard		Strengths	Areas for Growth	Priorities
Standard 1: Comprehensive School Counseling Program	School counselors collaboratively plan, implement, evaluate, and advocate for a comprehensive, developmental school counseling program which includes four components: guidance curriculum, responsive services, individual planning, and system support.			<input type="checkbox"/>
Standard 2: Direct Services	School counselors provide developmentally appropriate guidance and counseling activities to proactively assist all students to develop and apply skills for maximum academic, career, and personal/social growth during school years.			<input type="checkbox"/>
Standard 3: Indirect Services	School counselors advocate for students and provide professional expertise to help school personnel, parents/guardians, and community members to increase the effectiveness of student success. Through consultation and coordination, school counselors make referrals to other resources as appropriate.			<input type="checkbox"/>
Standard 4: Evaluation and Data	School counselors create program assessments and evaluations to review and adjust current program strategies and activities, collect data to share with stakeholders, and to inform stakeholders of future program planning and goals.			<input type="checkbox"/>
Standard 5: Leadership and Advocacy	School counselors are committed professionals who provide leadership, advocate for students, and collaborate with school personnel and parents/guardians to create a positive learning environment for all students.			<input type="checkbox"/>
Standard 6: Professional Responsibility and Growth	School counselors engage in self-reflection, take responsibility for improving skills and knowledge through professional development, practice ethical principles, and promotion of the school counseling profession.			<input type="checkbox"/>

Guidelines for Conducting a Pre-Observation Conference

Planning and observation of the activity

At the pre-observation conference, the evaluator and school counselor discuss what the evaluator will observe during the activity. Important information is shared about the characteristics of the environment of the activity. Specific information is also shared about the objectives of the activity and the assessment of participant/student learning, if applicable. The conference will also give the school counselor an opportunity to identify areas in which she/he would like focused feedback from the evaluator during the activity. The communication takes place during a formal meeting and a record of the date(s) should be kept. The purpose of the pre-observation conference is to provide the evaluator with an opportunity to discuss the following:

- Activity objective(s)
- Prior learning experiences of the participants/students
- Characteristics of the environment of the activity
- Instructional strategies that will be used to meet the lesson objectives
- Participant/student activities and materials
- Differentiation based on needs of participants/students
- Assessment (data) collected to demonstrate effectiveness

Pre-Observation Planning and Activity Reflection Resource Questions

The questions provided are intended to guide thinking and conversation; every question may not be answered or relevant for every observation.

Standard 1: Comprehensive School Counseling Program

- Discuss ways you implement a guidance curriculum to meet the needs of all students.
- Discuss ways you implement responsive services to meet student needs.
- Discuss ways you meet the needs of students through individual planning.
- Discuss the ways you meet the needs of students through systems support.

Standard 2: Direct Services

- How will you help students develop skills for academic success?
- How will you help students explore skills for career development?
- How will you help students develop skills for personal/social success?

Standard 3: Indirect Services

- Discuss how you advocate for students.
- In what ways do you interact and communicate with parents/guardians?
- What methods do you use to communicate with the community?
- In what situations do you recommend referrals to other resources?

Standard 4: Evaluation and Data

- What data was examined to plan this activity?
- How do you determine what questions to include on an assessment?
- How will you share this information with other stakeholders?
- What knowledge will students acquire based upon your lessons?

Standard 5: Leadership and Advocacy

- How does the school environment support all students?
- How do you collaborate with colleagues?

Standard 6: Professional Responsibility and Growth

- How do you apply knowledge gained from other experiences into your counseling?
- Discuss ways you analyze and reflect on your counseling.
- What are some proactive ways you further your own professional growth?

Guidelines for Conducting an Informal Observation

An informal observation is a:

- Tool to inform evaluation that provides the opportunity to gather evidence of instruction over a series of short classroom visits;
- Process for giving targeted evidence-based feedback to school counselors; and
- Means for the evaluator to observe the school counseling program more frequently and more purposefully.

An informal observation is not a(n):

- Formal observation
- “Gotcha” opportunity for supervisors or evaluators;
- Isolated event; or
- Shortcut to the observation protocol required as part of the school counselor evaluation process.

Informal observations, as a part of the school counselor evaluation system, may be general in nature or focused on observing a specific aspect of school counselor performance. Summary data collected through a series of informal observations along with evidence documented through formal observations will come together to inform the school counselor’s summative performance rating: ineffective, developing, proficient or accomplished.

Informally Observe All School Counselors

All school counselors benefit from informal observations. An evaluator should conduct only as many informal observations in a day as time is available for same or next day follow-up.

Informally Observe As Often As You Can

The evaluator’s interest in the comprehensive, developmental school counseling program sends a positive message to the school counselor. Including informal observation as a school-wide initiative requires consistency and frequency. Find times in the day to observe school counselors at varying times of the day; for counselors, what occurs in the morning is much different than what occurs during the afternoon.

Focusing on One or Two Areas

Although there may be no predetermined focus established (because of no pre-conference), find a focus based on the instruction, events or discussions that are occurring in the school. A focus may also occur based upon past conferences and the need for follow-up observations.

Make Time to Follow-Up

Follow-up communication to informal observations is a critical component. Follow-up will often be in writing, but the evaluator should extend to the school counselor an invitation to discuss any comments provided face-to-face. The evaluator may offer resources to help the school counselor refine his/her practice.

School Counselor-Driven Observations

While it is recognized that evaluators have many demands on their time, encouraging the school counselors to identify activities for the evaluator to observe can be a means for the evaluator to collect evidence related to a specific focus.

Types of Data

Data collected as evidence of school counselor practice may be quantitative, qualitative or a combination of both. Quantitative data includes frequencies, distributions and other counts. Qualitative data can include notes detailing patterns or activities and events observed. In both cases, accuracy is essential to ensure the credibility of the process and the evaluator.

Guidelines for Conducting a Formal Observation

A formal observation is a gathering of evidence about school counselor performance, and he or she will participate in a minimum of two formal observations. A formal observation consists of visitation to two activities the school counselor has planned throughout the school year. These activities could be classroom guidance presentations, school-wide assembly programs, groups, parent or community programs, or any other activities agreed upon by the evaluator and the school counselor. The observation should be conducted for the entire activity period, or a minimum of 30 minutes.

During the activity observation, the evaluator documents specific information related to school counselor performance, using the School Counselor Performance Evaluation Rubric: Record of Evidence. The rubric is based on the Framework for 21st Century Learning and the Ohio Standards for the School Counseling Profession. It is designed to promote effective leadership, quality instruction and guidance, and student learning while enhancing professional practice. This instrument for evaluation and its accompanying processes, as well as other materials, are designed to encourage professional growth, to be flexible and fair to the persons being evaluated, and to serve as the foundation for the establishment of professional goals and identification of professional development needs.

Not all evidence for the School Counselor Performance Evaluation Rubric will be gathered during the formal observation. Due to the holistic nature of the rubric, which is designed to complement a comprehensive, developmental school counseling program, some evidence will be discussed during the pre-observation conference and the post-observation conference or observed during informal observations. This information and evidence can and should be noted on the rubric. The evaluator does not need to focus on every standard during every formal observation. Due to the nature of the activity being presented, some standards may not be applicable. The school counselor should not be responsible for submitting evidence or documentation to address and support all standards.

After the formal observation, a narrative will be completed by the evaluator. The results of each formal observation are reviewed with the school counselor during the post-observation conference. Formal observations will not include videotaping or sound recordings, except with the written permission of the school counselor.

For each standard, the evaluator should assess which level (Ineffective, Developing, Proficient, or Accomplished) provides the best overall description of the school counselor's performance.

Guidelines for Conducting a Formal Post-Observation Conference

While the School Counselor Performance Evaluation Rubric is used to evaluate school counselor performance, its primary purpose is to provide the basis of support school counselors receive for their own professional growth. The evaluator's support should be provided in numerous ways, including the modeling of specific standard areas in professional development meetings, in school counselor's daily activities and in the post-observation conference.

The purpose of the post-observation conference is to provide school counselors opportunities to self-reflect on their activities with guidance and support from the evaluator who conducted the observation. This guidance should be provided through the use of leading questions by the evaluator along with the identification of an area of reinforcement (relative strength) and an area of refinement (area in which the observer needs to help the school counselor improve). Therefore, the focus of the post-observation conference is on two standard areas from the rubric as opposed to multiple areas. By focusing on just two areas, school counselors have the opportunity to segment their own learning with support from an evaluator.

When choosing an area of reinforcement and refinement from the rubric, evaluators should ask themselves several guiding questions to ensure that a school counselor's professional growth will have the maximum impact on the achievement of his/her students. Examples of these questions can be found on page 4.

Hints and Questions for Choosing Reinforcement and Refinement Objectives

- Which areas on the rubric received the highest ratings (reinforcements) and the lowest ratings (refinements)?
- Which of these areas would have the greatest impact on student achievement?
- Which of these areas would have the greatest impact on the other areas of the rubric?
- In which areas will the school counselor have the most potential for growth?
- Choose a refinement area for which you have sufficient and specific evidence from the observed activity to support why the school counselor needs to work in this area.
- Select refinement topics with which you have personal knowledge or experience.

Once the areas of reinforcement and refinement have been selected, the post-observation conference is developed. On the next page is a format for developing an effective post-conference. It is important to note that a post-conference does not begin with a presentation of the ratings, but with coaching questions, which through reflection, lead to the identification of the areas of reinforcement and refinement.

Post-Observation Conference Introduction

1. Introduction/Greetings/Establish length of conference
2. Review the conference process
3. Ask a general impression question: How do you think the activity went?

Reinforcement Plan

1. Reinforcing the school counselor. Use specific language from the rubric to develop your area of reinforcement. You may choose an entire standard or portion of a standard on a specific rubric.
2. Self-analysis question. Prompt school counselor to talk about what you, as the observer, want to reinforce. Utilize a question that includes specific language from the rubric which can lead the school counselor to reflect on what the evaluator has identified as his/her area of reinforcement.
3. Identify specific examples from script about what school counselor did relatively well. It is critical that the observer leading the post-conference provides specific examples for the activity of when the school counselor incorporated portions from the standard area being reinforced.

Refinement Plan

1. Refinement objective. Use specific language from the rubric to develop the area of refinement. The evaluator may choose an entire standard or portion of a standard on a specific rubric depending on the needed development of the school counselor.
2. Self-analysis question. Ask a specific question to prompt the school counselor to talk about what you, as the observer, want him/her to improve. Utilize a question that includes specific language from the rubric which can lead the school counselor to reflect on the standard area you have identified as his/her area of refinement.
3. Identify specific examples from script about what to refine. It is critical that the observer leading the post-conference provides specific examples from the observation to support the area being refined. This is the most important element of the plan.
4. Recommendation. Provide specific examples of what to refine with suggestions that are concrete. Also indicate why the example is strong and how it will improve student learning.
5. Share the performance ratings. Connect the rating to specifics from the rubric.

Post-Observation Planning and Activity Reflection Resource Questions

The questions provided are intended to guide thinking and conversation; every question may not be answered or relevant for every observation.

Standard 1: Comprehensive School Counseling Program

- Talk about how you implement a guidance curriculum to meet the needs of all students.
- Talk about how you implement responsive services to meet student needs.
- Talk about how you meet the needs of the students through individual planning.
- Talk about how you meet the needs of the students through systems support.

Standard 2: Direct Services

- How did you help students develop skills for academic success?
- How did you help students explore skills for career development?
- How did you help students develop skills for personal/social success?

Standard 3: Indirect Services

- What strategies did you use to advocate for students?
- In what ways do you interact and communicate with parents/guardians?
- What methods did you use to communicate with the community?

- In what situation did you recommend referrals to other resources?

Standard 4: Evaluation and Data

- What data was examined to plan this activity?
- How do you determine what questions to include on an assessment?
- How will you share this information with other stakeholders?
- What knowledge will students acquire based upon your lessons?

Standard 5: Leadership and Advocacy

- How does the school environment support all students?
- How do you collaborate with colleagues?

Standard 6: Professional Responsibility and Growth

- How do you apply knowledge gained from other experiences into your counseling?
- Discuss ways you analyze and reflect on your counseling.
- What are some proactive ways you further your own professional growth?

Four Key Elements of the Instructional Post-Observation Conference

1. Introduction/Greeting/Establish length
  - Review conference process
  - General impression question
  - How do you think the lesson went?"
2. Reinforcing the school counselor's skill
  - Identify an area of reinforcement (only one area)
  - Ask self-analysis question
  - Provide evidence from notes
3. Refining the school counselor's skill:
  - Identify an area of refinement (ONLY one area)
  - Ask self-analysis question
  - Provide evidence from notes
  - Give a recommendation for future practice
4. Present evidence and rating connected to the rubric

Note: The school counselor may provide additional information to the evaluator within 10 working days of the receipt of this form and may request a second conference with the evaluator. Any additional information will become part of the summative record. Challenges may be made according to the local contract agreement.

Professional Growth Plan Form

As a result of the evaluation process, school counselors and evaluators should focus on accelerating and continuing school counselor growth through professional development. Professional development should be individualized to the needs of the school counselor and specifically relate to his/her areas of refinement as identified in the school counselor’s evaluation. The evaluator should recommend professional development opportunities and support the school counselor by providing resources (e.g., time, financial).
